EXPERT'S Column

Shri. Anil Kumar Bhansali
Head of Treasury,
Finrex Treasury Advisors LLP

Key Triggers:

◆ FOMC Policy: Fed is all set to meet on 6-7th November 2024 and it is expected to cut rates by 25 basis points, while the market awaits Powell's tone to gauge further outlook on the interest rate path. However, we may see a single rate cut of 25 bps in the two months of November and December-24 due to solid growth shown by US economy in the recent months. With GDP also growing by 2.8% in the 3rd Quarter.

◆ US Election: US election is around the corner on 5th November 2024, wherein the polls indicate 50-50 chance of Harris and Trump winning the presidential race. Whereas, market has been speculating more of Trump win as his policies would be beneficial for the US Economy as a whole.

◆ Brent Oil: Oil prices will continue to remain in the small range as there has been no indication of any supply disruption from Iran and demand continues to remain on the weaker side though we do expect demand to rise from the US. Any escalation in geo-political tension or if Israel attacks on the Iran's energy/nuclear oil sites will lead to an uptick in the oil prices. Moreover, there is an expectation of a potential delay in OPEC+ production increase by one month which could also support prices. However, the demand from China is of main concern as it is the world's largest buyer of crude.

◆ FX Reserves: FX Reserves crossed the $700 bn mark in September mainly driven by gains in foreign currency assets due to dollar buying by RBI. But with RBI defending Rupee from further depreciation reserves dropped to $688 bn in October and we might continue to witness a dip in reserves as FPIs continue to buy dollars to fund their equity sales.

◆ FPI: FPI outflows hit record high levels, crossing $12bn from the Indian stock market in October as investors feel that Indian equities are overvalued compared to other markets, particularly China. But the future perspective of the Indian Economy remains strong. We have witnessed heavy buying in the debt market as companies like JP Morgan, FTSE includes India's sovereign bonds into its emerging markets.
